INTERNATIONAL PROJECTS

1. Eureka + CORFO: Role: Research director, Title “LIDAR-AR: a real-time construction monitoring tool for mining and civil tunnels and slope construction progress using augmented reality and lidar technology” (2025-2026). (Members: Chile, Spain): Grant: 24CVEK- 264744 (more info at: https://eurekanetwork.org)

2. RRReMaker. Research and Innovation Staff Exchange (RISE). H2020-MSCA-RISE-2020. Horizon 2020 Marie Skłodowska-Curie (2021-2024). (Members: Spain, Italy, France, Chile, Greece, Perú, Switzerland, Malta). Principal Researcher (in Chile), researcher associate. The main objective of this project is to develop an artificial intelligence (AI) based maker platform for the design and production of handcrafted, rapid prototyped and reconditioned products, based on the availability of used goods and recyclable waste collected, getting inputs from, and connecting together, digital manufacturers and traditional crafts, designers/creative companies and green companies, establishing a new hybrid managing model based on the communities of knowledge, ecodesign and democratization invention, integrating orange, sharing and circular economy. 3. STIC-AMSud. Title: “FERMI: Feature Extraction and Recognition Methods for Biological Images Understanding”. (2014-2016). (Members: Peru, Brazil, France and Chile). STIC-AmSud regional project. Principal Researcher (in Chile). This project aims at developing of new algorithms, techniques, and tools to process biological digital images to detect and recognize patterns into the images. An important issue is that images can be acquired from different sources (micrography, electronic microscopy, digital images, microarrays, and others) and can represent various biological organisms and natural objects. With this project we will join the expertise of the research groups involved from the Pontifical Catholic University of Peru (Peru), University of Sao Paulo (Brazil), Pontifical Catholic University of Chile (Chile), Adolfo Ibáñez University (Chile) and the Institut de Biologie Structurale at Grenoble (France).

4. BRAHMA. UPMC-ISIR, France. (2008-2009). Role: Doctoral student researcher. Title: “Utilisation de la coordination oeil-main pour la prédiction d'un geste de préhension”. This project aims to develop a novel approach to recognize the user's gesture based on the visual information captured from the user perspective. Generally, most motion recognition methods capture user's movements by tracking body parts. Instead, I developed a system that captures the scene using the user's gaze, and the grasp movement. My fellowship was funding by CONICYT – Colegio Doctoral Franco-Chileno under grant no. 21050185 and by the School of Engineering at Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile.

9. FONDECYT-CONICYT (Initiation into research competition) (2011-2014). Role: Principal Director: "Characterization of reach-to-grasp movements based on active perception systems". This project proposes a novel approach to detect reach-to-grasp movements by means of computer vision techniques. My solution fuses two viewpoints, the first of which is obtained from an eye-tracker device capturing the user's head perspective and the second viewpoint is captured by a wearable camera attached to the user's wrist. Project supported by CONICYT under grant no. 11100098. ($102.000 USD)
10. DCC-PUC, Chile. (2007-2008). Role: Student researcher (PhD): "Multiple View Visual Inspection". This project aims to develop a machine to evaluate the quality of wine glass bottles. My research consists in generating a robust multiple view inspection scheme in a non-calibrated way. The main motivation is the development of new computer vision techniques that may be applied as quality control methods to different manufactured products. Project partially supported by CONICYT ACT-32 and the School of Engineering at Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile.
11. DCC-PUC, Chile. (2005-2006). Role: Student researcher (PhD): "Tracking of potential defects in metal castings". This project aims to develop an algorithm to classify potential defects from real defect using the epipolar geometry in multiples views. Project partially supported by CONICYT under grant no. 1040210.
12. DIINF-USACH, Chile. (2003-2004). Role: Student researcher (M.Eng): "Segmentation of welding defects". This project aims to develop an algorithm capable of segmenting welding defects using robust digital image processing techniques. Project partially supported by CONICYT under grant no. 1040210.
